

Moran Approves Design for Eisenhower Memorial

as Member of Eisenhower Commission

WASHINGTON, D.C. – Congressman Jerry Moran voted today to approve the design for the National Eisenhower Memorial, created by world-renowned architect Frank O. Gehry. Congressman Moran serves as a member of the Dwight D. Eisenhower Memorial Commission.

“President Eisenhower represents the best of America, and the design we approved today will be a fitting tribute to one of America’s greatest leaders. I commend Frank Gehry and his team for creating a design that will honor Ike’s legacy and remind future generations of his deep commitment to freedom for all people,” said Moran.

“Kansans are proud to call President Eisenhower one of our ‘sons,’ and proud to join all Americans in honoring his lifetime of service to our nation, during some of our most challenging days. It is my hope that the National Eisenhower Memorial will inspire all Americans to recall its proud history and bright future.”

Upon completion, the Eisenhower Memorial will be the first presidential memorial of the 21st century, and only the seventh in U.S. history. It will be built on a four-acre site in Washington, D.C., between 4th and 6th streets SW, just off of The National Mall.
